dents and processors from the annual state oratorical contest, in which both institutions will be represented.

The occasion is always one of no little importance in college life. It is expected that from fifty to seventy-five students will go and that there will also be along several of the professors with their wives. Special transportation arrangements will be made with the R., F., & P. Hallroad.

Special interest attaches to the contest this year in view of the fight on between the two socioles at the college. The Mu Sigs are still asilating the question and it was reported last night that some of them had already sone to Ashidand to look into the question of laying the matter before the Slate Association, It was further reported that this lastnamed body has communicated with Prosident Boatweight on the subject and that he has indicated to them that Mr. Pewell. After the election Messrs. Stokes and Foster made appropriate talks, which were well received. Coloned Murphy extended a cordial invitation to the hotel men to be his guests at breakfast this morning and afterwards enjoy a carriage firve over the city. The invitation was accepted with thanks.

The organization of the association in Virginia is rather belated, every other State in the Union having had an organization of the kind for quite a while. But the members of the association intend making up fer lost time by good work in the future.

BAYLOR OYSTER SURVEY PEOPLE

Investigators to Leave Here June 16th on Steamer Accomac.

The Joint Legislative Commission, appointed under the provisions of a joint resolution some time ago to investigate braced within the Baylor survey, met ter Commission, was appointed some time ago as a result of the agitation of the oyster question, resulting from the consideration of the bills offered by Delegate E. C. Jordan, of Frederick. One of these proposed to break the Baylor survey and lease the barren rock within, that area to the highest bidder, the theory being that the State would derive more revenue than it is now getting, and that the lossoes of the barren rocks and shoals would restore them to productiveness. The bill was so vigorously opposed by the tongmen that it was decided to appoint a joint committee to investigate and report as to the barren survey. The oppornents of the Jordan bill contended that to pass the bill of Mr. Jordan's would turn the State's oyster grounds over to the packers and wealthy oystermen and freeze out the small operators. Mr. Jordan and his supporters centend that the State's oyster lands are being depleted under present laws, and that unless some remedy is promptly applied this valuable interest will be destroyed.

The commission appointed to look into conditions consists of Delegates W. D. Cardwell, of Hanover; S. Wilkins Mathews of Accomac, and E. C. Jordan, of Frederick, and Senators A. D. Waktins, of Prince Edward, and Julian Bryant, of Henrico. The commission was organized by choosing Mr. Cardwell chairman and Mr. J. J. Burles secretary. The body will leave this city aboard the State's oyster steamer Accomac on a preliminary inspection of the oyster grounds June 18th, and will be absent for ten days or two weeks. During this time the party will cruise in the waters of the State gathering information. The real work of the commission will investigate conditions generally and gather date as the basis of the report to be made to the General Assembly at the fall session.

The representatives of the oyster sections are pessimistic as to the work of oyster question, resulting from the con-sion. The representatives of the cyster sec-tions are pessimistic as to the work of the commission. They believe that noth-ing will be accomplished, and that use-less expense will be incurred. It will be a pleasant cruise for the members of the commission, at least.

to the League." In this address the three classes of people in the church—the children, the young people and the older people—and the duty of the pastor in supplying work and directing the efforts of each individual class, was pre-eminently brought out by the speaker. Great stress was laid on the point that the duty of the pastor is not to do the work of the league, but to be the directing hand, the discerning eye, the motive power of the league.

On account of his active connection for a number of years with the work of the Epworth League, Mr. Reginald Walker was chosen to present the topic, "Opportunities of Epworth League Work." This address included comparative figures, showing the numerical strength of the leagues in the Virginia Conference in 1838 and in 1802, together with pertinent suggestions as to how to overcome weaknesses in the present plan of work. The speaker gave answer to the thought of some that the league cannot be made a part of church effort in some places, and stated very clearly the relation the league should sustain to the church and Sunday-school.

The addresses were interspersed with spirited singing, led by Mrs. G. M. Smithdenl, with Mr. Percy W. Peay as pianist.

A conference of representatives from the different leagues in the two cities will be held at Broad-Street Church on next Thursday night to perfect plans for other rallies of the nature of the one held last night, which proved to be both interesting and helpful.
